

Workstream A - Impact Strategy

Engagement brief and requirements

Client	Generation Bridge Foundation
Document reference	MOM-2026-WSA-01
Classification	Participant material - Workstream A
Version	2.0 July 2026

Purpose of this workstream

Workstream A owns the human and strategic side of the engagement. You make sense of what stakeholders need, translate that into strategic options, weigh the ethics, and build the story the Board will hear. Workstream B supplies the numbers; you supply the meaning, and you challenge each other.

Your responsibilities

- Synthesise the interview transcripts into clear, cited insights.
- Frame the problem with a MECE issue tree and testable hypotheses.
- Run the design-thinking activities (empathy map, journey map, ideation).
- Develop two or three strategic options and a single recommendation.
- Lead the ethical analysis.
- Own the executive summary and the narrative of the board presentation.

Detailed requirements

A1 - Problem statement and issue tree.

- State the Board's question in one precise sentence of your own.
- Build an issue tree that is mutually exclusive and collectively exhaustive, with branches covering programmes, geography, funding, operations and measurement.
- Write at least four hypotheses you can test against the data room.

A1b - Stakeholder map.

- Plot every party affected by the decision on a power/interest grid.
- Star the five stakeholders you must understand most deeply and cite at least one source per starred stakeholder.

A2 - Interview synthesis.

- Summarise findings by theme, not by person. Do not simply quote at length.
- Every insight must cite at least one transcript reference.
- Flag where sources contradict one another (for example ST-04 versus ST-05 and D-10 on the YouthWorks threat).

A3 - Empathy and journey maps.

- Choose one beneficiary archetype (for example the Dong Nai intern who withdraws) and build an evidence-based empathy map using BN-01 to BN-04.
- Map the journey from awareness to a job at ninety days and mark the pain points, quantifying them with data where you can.

A4 - Strategic options.

- Present two or three genuinely different options, described so that a reasonable person could choose any of them.
- For each option give the rationale, the cost implication, the main risks, and who wins and loses.
- Recommend one, and be explicit about what would change your mind.

A5 - Ethical analysis.

- Address at least three of the six ethical dilemmas set out in the handbook.
- For each, state the tension, the stakeholders affected, your position, and the residual risk you are accepting.

How Workstream B will audit you

Before you submit, Workstream B will check that every claim you make is supported by data or a cited source, that your options are financially realistic, and that your ethical analysis engages with the numbers rather than avoiding them. You cannot submit without their signature on the audit checklist.
